

IVANA BIČAK: LIFE ON MARS - VISIONS OF THE FUTURE IN EARLY MODERN POETRY

September 25. and 26.: Talk and workshop open to everyone. To sign up for either or both events, send an e-mail to Simona Zetterberg-Nielsen: norsz@cc.au.dk by September 15. The event is organized by Centre for the Rise of Science and Fiction

September 25: 10:00-11:00 (Location 1484-202). Talk: Focusing on the thrilling techno-scientific future of the early modern period, this talk examines the seeds of science fiction in 17th-18th century poetry, whose vistas include animal-human hybrids and strange oceans on other planets.

September 26: 10:00-12:00 (Location 1484-204). Workshop: Participants are invited to present short (2 to 7 minutes each) reflections on imagining the future in the long 18th century.

You are warmly welcome to participate with or without a presentation.
