

How your personal data is processed

In connection with your participation in a research project at Aarhus University and Brunel University London, with industry partners SoundWheel and Involved, pursuant to the General Data Protection Regulation, we are required to inform you about how your personal data will be processed. As joint controllers we also provide you with information about our arrangement concerning the processing of personal data.

The data controllers	Aarhus University Nordre Ringgade 1 8000 Aarhus C CVR-nr.: 31119103 and Brunel University London Kingston Lane Uxbridge London UB8 3PH UK and SoundWheel ApS c/o Kristian Humaidan Vester Bregningemark 7 5970 Ærøskøbing Denmark CVR no.: 42360597 and Involved Risdalsvej 13 8260 Viby J Denmark CVR no.: 43357468 are the data controllers responsible for the processing of personal data in the research project. The research project is headed by Mads Krogh, who can be contacted at School of Communication and Culture, Langelandsgade 139, 8000 Aarhus C, musmmk@cc.au.dk, 22445020.
The arrangement between the joint controllers	Aarhus University and Brunel University are both responsible for processing personal data related to 1) recruitment and planning of online sessions as well as focus groups; 2) transcribing focus group interviews; 3) analysis of focus group interaction. Aarhus University are also responsible for storing data in during the projekt realisation period. SoundWheel is responsible for processing personal data if these are supplemented regarding existing SoundWheel users and in potential participation in planning or analysing focus groups. Involved is responsible for processing personal data in potential participation in the organisation of online sessions, focus groups and/or subsequent analysis.
Data protection officer at Aarhus University	Aarhus University: Søren Broberg Nielsen Data Protection Officer/DPO

	dpo@au.dk
Title of the research project	SoundWheel: Usage, wellbeing and user engagement
The purpose of the project and of processing your personal data	The purpose of the project and the purpose of the processing of personal data is to contribute to the understanding of how everyday use of music, specifically via the meditation music app SoundWheel, might improve well-being and mental health. In this context, the possibilities for a combined quantitative and qualitative data collection via the online platform Involved are also being explored.
Which personal data will be processed in the project?	The project will process the following information about you as a participant: Name Mail Age Nationality
Use of automated processing (profiling)	Profiling is the automated processing of your personal data. For example processing determined by an algorithm. See below whether processing of your personal data will involve automated processing. Your personal data will not be subject to automated processing.
For how long do we store your other personal data?	At present, we cannot say for how long we will be processing your personal data. Your personal data will be processed by Aarhus University and Brunel University London in a personally identifiable form for as long as required by the research purpose and the rules on storage according to responsible conduct of research. When we no longer need your personal data for processing, the data will be anonymised, transferred to the Danish National Archives or erased
Will personal data be made available or disclosed to others, e.g. researchers at other universities?	Your personal data collected for the project will only be disclosed to the other joint controller. You can find information about the appropriate safeguards/special measures taken in connection with the transfer here: Data will only be disclosed via a secure online connection or an encrypted storage unit.
The personal data has been obtained	From you
We are entitled to process your personal data pursuant to the rules of the General Data Protection Regulation and the Danish Data Protection Act. We are obligated to inform you about the rules that apply to our work with your personal data.	Article 6(1)(e) entitles Aarhus University to process non-sensitive personal data about you without your consent, because the research project is a task carried out in the public interest and because processing of personal data is necessary for the performance of the research project.
Your rights under the General Data Protection Regulation	You have the following rights if Aarhus University and Brunel University London processes your personal data as part of a research project carried out in the public interest: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Right to erasure or the “right to be forgotten”. • Right to data portability - in some cases, you have the right to receive your personal data and to request that the personal data be transferred from one data controller to another. • Right not to be subject to an automatic decision based solely on automated processing, including profiling. Note that your rights may be limited by other legislation or be subject to exemptions, e.g. in relation to research and the exercising of public authority.

Complaints	If you wish to complain about the processing of your personal data, you can do so by contacting the supervisory authority: The Danish Data Protection Agency Carl Jacobsens Vej 35 DK-2500 Valb